LINCOLN, Neb. (Nov. 5, 2009) -- Fortune magazine columnist and best-selling author Matt Miller delivered the keynote address at this year's Nebraska Humanities Council's Annual Governor's Lecture in the Humanities Nov. 4 at the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha. Prior to the lecture, NET Radio's Jerry Johnston talked with Miller about his most recent book in a conversation that will air during "Weekend Edition," Saturday, Nov. 7, at 8:30 a.m. CT and Sunday, Nov. 8, at 9:30 a.m. The keynote address will be broadcast in its entirety on NET Radio Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, at 6:30 p.m. CT.

Miller is the author of "The Tyranny of Dead Ideas: Letting Go of the Old Ways of Thinking to Unleash a New Prosperity" and the 2003 bestseller "The 2% Solution: Fixing America's Problems in Ways Liberals and Conservatives Can Love."

Political commentator and former presidential advisor David Gergen calls Miller "one of those few, invaluable voices who is able to reach beyond the truisms of yesterday to help us think anew about tomorrow."

Miller is an award-winning contributor to The Atlantic Monthly, The New York Times Magazine and many other publications. He represents the "center" as host of "Left, Right & Center," National Public Radio's popular week-in-review program (recently named by iTunes as one of its "best podcasts"). Miller served in the Clinton White House from 1993 to 1995 as a senior advisor in the Office of Management and Budget. From 1991 to 1992, he was a White House Fellow, serving as special assistant to the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

The lecture was presented by the Nebraska Humanities Council, the University of Nebraska and Valmont Industries. The Nebraska Humanities Council provides partial funding for humanities features on NET Radio.
