

Omaha Police Community Relations Featured on NET Radio

LINCOLN, Neb. (Dec. 5, 2007) -- Relations between Omaha police and members of the city's minority communities have been strained recently. NET Radio's Robyn Wisch explores the issues in a story that will air on NET Radio Friday, Dec. 7, at 6:50 and 8:50 a.m. CT during "Morning Edition."

A series of allegations of police brutality and excessive violence have angered some in the community and generated discussions about trust and what constitutes meaningful civilian oversight over police activities. Wisch talks with community activists, members of the Omaha Police Department and others in her in-depth report.

An audio link to the story will be on NET Radio's Web site (www.netNebraska.org/radio and click on Nebraska News) the day of the broadcast. All that is needed to listen to the report is access to the Internet and a free RealPlayer program.
